MEN OF FIFTH DISTRICT ARE HONORED BY OUR CITIZENS

Charleroi Gives Splendid Testimonial to Those who Respond to the Call

PARADE, SPEECHES, BANQUET

The first contingent of selected men to be sent from the Fifth District of Washington county to Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio, left Charleroi at 5:55 o'clock this morning, in charge of Ody C. Abbott, of New Eagle, who was appointed Captain of the squad by the exemption board prior to the departure of the men. They were accompanied as far as Pittsburg by John O. Watson, chairman of the exemption board, who had arranged for the breakfast of the men at the Union station restaurant.

Thursday evening Charleroi and the various communities represented in the contingent, gave the men a farewell demonstration. It was an outpouring of the citizens, in which the people showed in a quiet way the interest they have in these who are the first representatives from this community in the National Army.

The members of the contingent assembled at Hotel Wilbur at 7 o'clock, the men being enrolled as fast as they arrived by Chairman John O. Watson. More than the necessary number was enrolled, this being a precaution taken by the Board in case there should be some who desired to remain at home a little longer. This proved to be the case, as some of the men present required additional time to get their personal affairs in shape. On the other hand, a number of those who were stood aside were insistent that they be included in the first contingent. They had to be content with waiting until the second contingent is called, which will be on the 19th, when 140 additional men will be sent to camp.

After the preliminaries had been arranged by the exemption board, Ody C. Abbott, of New Eagle, was selected as Captain and will be in charge of the men until they report to the commandant at Camp Sherman. In the meantime the Ellsworth band had arrived at the Wilbur, in charge of Chief Marshal James J. Hott, to act as an escort to the contingent, which was to lead the parade. There was no delay. The Chief Marshal and band, followed by the 22 men, marched to McKean and Second street, where the parade was at once formed, and which marched in the following order:

Mounted Police.
Chief Marshal Hott and staff.
Exemption Board
Ellsworth Band.
The 22 selected men.
Civil war veterans in autos.
Charleroi Veteran Drum Corps.
Charleroi Firemen.

Elkies Drum Corps, Monongahela. Post Office employees, led by Postmaster Smith.
Men of the Methodist Church.
Charleroi High School, carrying flags of the allies.
Men of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian Church.
American Federation of Musicians Local 592.
Charleroi Lodge, B. P. O. E.

The parade marched over the prescribed route, down McKean to Tenth, to Fallowfield, to Fourth, where the parade dismissed.

The men of the selected contingent were taken to the Elks Club rooms, which had been generously tendered by the organization, and where at 5 o'clock a banquet was served for the men as well as the members of the exemption board. The Elks had made every arrangement for the entertainment of the men, extending their well known hospitality with a lavish hand, and not only making the embryo soldiers welcome, but likewise their friends, who had come to bid the boys goodbye.

At the conclusion of the banquet, Mr. Ed. Masters on behalf of the Elks, welcomed the men, and then introduced John O. Watson, chairman of the board, who acted as master of ceremonies. Mr. Watson addressed the men, not as "Sammies," he said, but as American soldiers. He said that he would like to go with the men, and that he would visit the camp with one of the contingents from the district, and if Uncle Sam would accept him he would be ready to go. At the conclusion of his address he introduced Dr. C. B. Wood, of Monongahela, who told the audience that these men were not drafted—they had volunteered. True, they had been selected by the government for service, but they had shown by their willingness to respond to the call the fact that they were ready for the arduous duty to which they were now going.

At the conclusion of Dr. Wood's remarks Gilbert E. Koedel, of Donora, secretary of the exemption board, and who is known to many Charleroi citizens, was introduced and made a splendid address to the men. He asked them to be loyal to their convictions and true to the flag, and upon their return home to come back with the conviction of duty well done. Mr. Koedel's address, as well as those preceding, were most heartily received by the audience.

Chairman Watson then introduced Tom P. Sloan, who spoke for the citizens of Charleroi, who expressed the sentiment of the community in an address filled with patriotic fervor, closing with the hope for the safe return of the men, assuring them that the prayers of every true American would be with them wherever duty might call them.

An additional speaker was Jacob Wise, who spoke for the civil war veterans.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT SHOWS AN INCREASE

Charleroi public schools, which opened Monday, September 3rd, will show a larger enrollment this year than ever before. Superintendent T. L. Pollock has just completed a tabulation of the attendance at the various buildings, which looks up as follows: Fifth street, 528; Ninth street, 606; Second street, 431; Crest avenue, 364; Junior High School, 240; High School, 297. This makes a total enrollment of 2376. As all of the pupils have not yet entered school, it is estimated the enrollment will reach almost 2500 for the term.

The enrollment of the grades at the end of the first week is 2079; at the end of the first month in 1916 it was 2036, showing an increase in attendance of the grades at the present time of 43. The High School attendance is somewhat smaller than last year. At the end of the first month in 1916 it was 329; at the end of the first week this year it is 297. Many of the boys who otherwise would be in school are now employed in various industries at good wages, and they prefer for the time being to make the money instead of going to school. However, it is expected the high school attendance will materially increase before the season is over.

The above figures do not embrace the continuation school, which will begin its sessions next Friday. The law requires 8 hours each week for the continuation school, and this time will be given on Friday of each week in the high school building.

All of the teachers of the faculty, 63 in number, are on duty, and Superintendent Pollock reports that everything in connection with the schools is moving along very smoothly.

YEAR BOOK OF THE ATHENE CLUB

Music for the evening will be furnished by the auxiliary.

Beginning with October 19 the study of various phases in connection with the United States will be taken up, and events, institutions, and prominent statesmen will form the themes of subsequent meetings. The officers of the club for the ensuing season are: President, Mrs. Edwin McKay; first vice president, Mrs. Clarence Peregrine; second vice president, Mrs. R. C. Mountsier; recording secretary, Mrs. J. Clive Enos; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. F. Pfelehardt; treasurer, Mrs. Herman Nebelung. Committees—Program: Mrs. Vivia P. Stewart, Mrs. A. R. PENNA TROOPS MAY SOON GO TO EUROPE

From news which comes from an official source at Washington, it is surmised that the Pennsylvania troops will not remain long in the southern camps, but will be sent across the water after a six weeks or two months period of training.

Secretary of War Baker, in a letter to Chairman Fitzgerald, of the House Appropriation committee, said that not all of the men in the 16 National Guard camps in the south would be converted into wooden cantonments as originally planned, because the camps are not large enough to accommodate them for an extensive period.

The men of Company A, Tenth Regiment, at Augusta, are hearing all kinds of rumors with reference to the regiment. One is, that it is to be returned to Mt. Gretna and made into a heavy artillery regiment; others that it is to join with the "Rainbow" Division, but just how much truth there is in the rumors will develop later. However, it looks as if the men would be sent to France at an early date, possibly before the first of the year, provided the necessary transportation can be secured.

TENTH REGIMENT ORDERED SOUTH

Units will Leave this Evening, for Camp Hancock at Augusta

COL. COULTER IN CHARGE

The Tenth Regiment, of the Twenty-eighth Division, Fifty-sixth Infantry Brigade, will leave for Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., this evening. Orders to this effect were received on Thursday and today the various units of the command are busily engaged in packing their camp equipment, preparatory to moving south.

Col. Coulter, with the first section, comprising Company I, Company M, Headquarters and Supply Companies, will leave over the Pennsylvania, as will also a section in charge of Major Addison. This second contingent will be made up of Companies B, F, G, H, K, and L.

Companies C, D, and E will leave Connelleville this evening over the B & O, for Washington, from which point they will likely follow the other sections to Augusta, Ga. They will be in charge of Col. Martin.

Thursday afternoon and evening members of the various commands of the regiments ordered south were given leave of absence to visit their homes. Quite a number of men of the 18th, who live in Monessen and Donora, were at home during the day, leaving on the last car for Pittsburg Thursday evening to report to their various Companies. The entire Guard of Pennsylvania will be on the way south within a very few days, and the real work at Camp Hancock will get properly under way.

Examinations Will Begin Early Next Week, To Fill Quota

140 MEN IN NEXT CONTINGENT

The exemption board of Fifth District is mailing out four hundred additional notices to registrants to appear for examination beginning either Tuesday or Wednesday.

The board held a session on Wednesday, at which time it went over a number of papers, and selected 50 additional men for service. However, the board realized that with the large list of exemptions starting them in the face it would be impossible to secure the quota from the men already examined, and deemed it advisable to issue notices for the 400 additional men. From this number the board hopes to be able to secure the balance of the quota which is assigned from this district. They must furnish at least 140 additional men on the 19th of this month, possibly more, and notices to this number will be issued possibly next week, to assemble in Donora, probably on the 18th of this month, preparatory to entraining for the camp at Chillicothe. The board is anxious to secure the necessary quota as rapidly as possible, as the government desires all this work and the men in camp by the first week in October.

It is possible that one of the contingents, possibly the third, will be assembled in Monongahela, early in October, from which point they will entrain for Camp Sherman. By assigning mobilization points to the three larger communities in the Fifth District an opportunity is given the citizens of these localities to give the men an appropriate farewell demonstration.

OLD DEPARTING BOYS.

Three months and two days after they had registered for service in the communities represented in the Fifth exemption district of Washington county sends her first contingent to the training camp at Camp Sherman, at Chillicothe, Oh. The departure was preceded by the men from the First district, who departed on Wednesday, and who will be on hand at Camp Sherman to greet the local boys on their arrival at the cantonment.

The departure of the local contingent was preceded by a demonstration in our own town, which served to show in a small degree, the intense interest taken by those who must remain at home, in the welfare of the boys who, although selected by the government for duty, accept the service with a good will and with a grim determination to "see the thing through" in the genuine American spirit. Many of the young men who left in the first contingent are making financial sacrifices to answer their country's call, but instead of making excuses they put civilian affairs behind them and prepare to assume the duty of the soldier, in which practically all of them have never had training. The spirit in which the men have accepted their assignment is to be commended. We feel assured they will give a splendid account of themselves; that they will make good soldiers, and will not only be a credit to themselves, but to the communities from which they come. In the leaving we all join in wishing them God speed, with the hope that all of them will return home after a season well spent in the service of their country.

NAMING FLOWERS.

It is a much happier conceit to name flowers after heroines than it was to give the names of battlefields to colors. Last year the French named a beautiful rose for Edith Cavell; this year they have named one for Emilienne Moreau. Four-fifths of the world's inhabitants know why the memory of Edith Cavell should be honored, and honor her. Emilienne Moreau, a young girl of Loos, during the battle which resulted in its capture by the Allies, helped to save wounded British soldiers under fire, and later shouldered a rifle and assisted in driving the Germans from the town. These roses are certain to become popular in the United States.

THE Surer WAY TO PEACE.

Chautauqua audiences, solid, respectable folk of our small cities and towns, may be regarded as truly representative of the backbone of this nation. In his gold-bearing wanderings on the Chautauqua circuit, therefore, Mr. Bryan, a shrewd observer, has excellent opportunities for estimating the country's sentiment, and his report that wherever he goes he finds "the desire to support the government practically universal" is worthy of note as important testimony as to the state of the public mind. It is also gratifying to know that Mr. Bryan himself is helping to cultivate this desirable popular attitude by his own utterances. He is quoted, for example:

"No one who loves his country can afford to take any chances of helping the enemy by exciting division here. Any dissension among us as to the prosecution of the war will have a tendency to prolong it and make it more costly in money and men. The more one favors peace the more loyal he should support the government as the only means of hastening peace."

This is indeed the only means of hastening peace, wherever may be the view of the critical offenders, or of those of secret foreign sympathies among us who decline to employ such means by either word or deed and even complain of "insult" when expressions of loyalty from them are invited. Both these classes of persons, the first thoughtlessly, and the second possibly with design, are making the war "more costly in money and men" and retarding the day of peace.

A lot of very fine-spirited arguments are being made on both sides of the great question at the present time, while the average citizen is waiting for a decision on the main point, namely: What is going to be the price of peace and range-size amarrable in the bin? Even a heated argument and short of being an acceptable substitute for fuel.

The gentlemen in Washington who would rather debate a bill than pass it are apparently guilty of a serious commission in overlooking an opportunity to increase the war revenue by levying a tax on soap boxes, the demand for which has increased at a great rate during recent months. In this connection it ought to be said that nothing is to be gained by meeting with the price of the former.

A young married man in the West of the United States was in the act of claiming exemption from army service, on the ground that he had a wife dependent upon him, when his father-in-law, who was present, interposed a remark which is probably still ringing in the petitioner's ears. "Young man," said the parent, "I supported the girl you speak of a good many years before you laid eyes on her and I guess I can take care of her while you are away."

There is, no doubt, a great deal more than enough of hair-trigger patriotism in the United States, but its fingers are held tightly by a public sentiment that is willing to wait upon the Government's word of command. "Getting good and ready" is an American phrase, and it is peculiarly applicable to the Administration's deliberate method of dealing with the enemy at home, as well as with that abroad.

MEN OF FIFTH DISTRICT

He said that a soldier on the Kaiser's staff would never take his hat off to the Kaiser. He spoke with fervor and force, and said the men of '61, if they were permitted, would be only too glad to go. The sentiments of the veterans were loudly applauded, as they evidently echoed the feelings of his hearers.

The concluding speech of the evening was made by Guy B. Hoge, Esq., of Donora, one of the selected men. He has given up his law practice to answer his country's call, and briefly he thanked the citizens of the community for the splendid testimonial they had given to the fellows, as he expressed it, and said they would endeavor to live up to the expectations of their friends while in the service.

This concluded the exercises of the evening as well as the reception. The men then went to the Babbitt studio, where a group picture was taken, after which they reported to the Wilbur hotel for assignment to quarters. There they each received two tags marked with their names and serial numbers, one of which they will wear on their coats, and the other placed on their luggage.

The contingent should arrive in Camp Sherman this evening, where they will immediately report to the commandant and be assigned to quarters. Saturday morning they will take up the life of a soldier, and will remain in service until the close of the war, unless sooner discharged.

GARDEN COLUMN

By National Emergency Food Garden Commission

"Every pound of vegetables properly put up for future use, every jar of fruit preserved, add that much to our insurance of victory."—President Wilson.

Lesson 54.

Canning Apples.

There are many ways in which windfall and cull apples may be made into valuable and palatable food products, such as apple sauce, cider, apple sirup, cider vinegar, jelly, preserves, etc., says today's bulletin of the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, which is working in conjunction with this paper to conserve the nation's food supply.

In this lesson the bulletin offers this recipe for canning such apples, for pie filling. Wash, core and pare the apples, and remove all decayed or injured spots. Slice apples, quickly into a basin, containing slightly salted cold water (about 1 teaspoonful per gallon) to keep from discoloring. Pack fresh cold product in glass jars or tin cans. Add one cupful of hot, thin syrup of about 18 degrees density (or about 1 pound of sugar to 4 1-2 pints of water) to each quart of fruit. If using glass cans, put on rubbers and screw on the tops, but do not seal completely. If using tin cans, cap and tip, sealing up completely. Sterilize 12 minutes in hot-water bath, homemade outfit; 10 minutes in water-sealed outfit; 6 minutes under five pounds of steam pressure; 4 minutes in aluminum pressure cooker. Remove jars, tighten covers, invert to cool and test joints. Wrap in paper and store.

This filling can be used for making apple pies in the same way that fresh apples would be used, with the exception that the sirup must be poured off and less sugar should be used. Since the apples have already been cooked only enough heat is needed to cook the crust and warm the apples through. Pies may be baked in 7 minutes. The apple pies made with these apples are in the opinion of many housekeepers as good as those made with fresh fruit, and they can be made in less time and are less.

AGED VETERAN

READY TO FIGHT IF NECESSARY

Says He Feels as Frisky as a Young Colt—Lauds Tanlac.

"Seventy years ago, when the Mexican War came along, I tried to get a place as a drummer boy, but as I was only seventeen I was turned down," said Charles B. Robbins, 87 years, an expert gardener, 3741 Fifteenth street, Philadelphia, Pa.

"I got my chance in the Civil War, though, enlisting in Company A 6th Pennsylvania Cavalry. I feel as young and hoary right today as I did in '61, and believe there is some good fighting left in me yet if my country needs me. Until a couple of weeks ago I always walked six or ten miles a day, beside attending to my gardener business, without minding it one bit. Stomach trouble, which I have had for some time, finally got the best of me.

"However, I decided to try this Tanlac I had heard praised so highly. It took exactly one bottle to fix me up as good as new. My appetite has improved wonderfully, and I can eat without feeling bloated or suffer from sour stomach and heartburn. I go to bed nights knowing that I will sleep soundly until morning. Then I get up feeling as frisky as a colt. Those sick headaches have left me. My nerves are in better shape today than they have been in fifty years. Tanlac has put me back on the job. I have taken many medicines in my time, but I never ran across anything that works so rapidly and efficiently as Tanlac." Pipers Pharmacy.

NOTICE

The Pathe Film Exchange failed to live up to their contract in delivering "The Tanks" to the Majestic theatre in time for exhibiting purposes yesterday and today, so a different picture will be shown. Action to recover damages for this breach of contract is now pending developments and will probably result in a showing of the picture at a later date. 71-t1.

Who Have Held the Life Jobs? In the County Offices?

The only ARGUMENT--NOT REASON-- advanced by the opposition to my Candidacy for Recorder is that I have served two terms, and Mr. Voter, do you realize that most of this opposition comes from men who have themselves served more than twelve years in the county offices.

Clouding the Issue!

To speak of making any County Office a Life Job for any man is simply clouding the issue. It is a political issue entirely. Its advocates are not sincere in advocating it themselves for many of them have served almost all their lives in county offices and are paving the way now to pass the offices around so that the jobs will remain in their control.

The office of Recorder of Deeds is the only office of any kind I ever sought--the only one I ever filled--but having filled this for two terms satisfactory to the people, doing the square thing, adding to the efficiency and business-like administration of the office for the benefit of all the people--I am a Candidate again in order that I may continue in the service of the people for four more years. Is such an ambition detrimental to the taxpayers? Does it make for inefficiency?

Policy of My Opposition

The policy of the political opposition to my candidacy is not life jobs or third terms or long service for the county--because the records show that many men have been in office many more years than I will have been if again elected Recorder. The opposition is based on the theory--that is good politics to keep passing the jobs around among their friends rather than have any one man continue in an office which will not be used to political advantage.

TALK About LIFE Jobs==

W. S. LOCKHART, who is chairman of the Republican county committee, is managing the opposition candidate--served 6 years as Deputy Clerk of Courts, and will have served, on the completion of his present term as Clerk, eight more years--a TOTAL OF FOURTEEN YEARS IN ONE OFFICE.

JOHN G. HALL, whom I succeeded as Recorder of Deeds, after having served six of the best years in that office, was Deputy Sheriff for four years and is now serving under District Attorney I. W. Baum, which will add four more years to his "service for the county"--a TOTAL OF FOURTEEN YEARS.

GEORGE E. LOCKHART served three years as Deputy Sheriff, three years as Sheriff and nine as Chief Clerk to the County Commissioners--TOTAL FIFTEEN YEARS.

All of these men and perhaps others undoubtedly felt that they should be of service to the County as well as receive the emoluments of the positions they held. Is there any difference between serving 12 years in one office, where one can add more in value to the taxpayers, through his experience, than by being passed around from one job to another, simply for the sake of the job?

MR. VOTER THINK OF THESE THINGS. MAKE THE OFFICE OF RECORDER YOUR OFFICE. PUT EFFICIENCY AND SERVICE ABOVE POLITICS AND FACTIONALISM.

You've Been There.
Invalid Down For a Rest Cure—Is
this a restful place, boatman? Boatman—It used to be, sir, afore folks
came 'ere to rest.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Hire the Higher.
Teacher—What is the difference between "I will hire a taxi and I have hired a taxi?" Kid—About $6.50.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

We would willingly have others perfect and yet amend not our own faults.
—Thomas a Kempis.

Treasures of the Tiber's Bed.
Father Tiber must be trembling in his bed over the quest for the gold supposed to lie in the foundations of the old temple of Jove, for the river has more than once been threatened.
Lecky holds that its periodical flooding and bequest of marshes and malaria have been the salvation of Italy in preventing the Italian parliament, for reasons of health, from sitting long in session. Garibaldi had other views. He meant to fling the old river from Rome
to Tivoli, so sent for that prince of engineers, Sir John Fowler. Fowler made the necessary surveys for diversion of the Tiber into the Anio, to can-alize the malarial area and drain it into the sea. It would have been a great and romantic feat of engineering.
But honest John loved Garibaldi as faithfully as did the red shirted Thousand. "It will cost you nine millions for the work and as much again for compensation. Don't think of it," he bluntly said. "Oh, you stubborn English!" laughed the hero. "Americans here would do the work for nothing merely to get the antiquities in the Tiber bed." But he took Fowler's advice and the Tiber bed was filled with water.

Sense of Security.
"Do you find that your constituents agree with you?"
"No," replied Senator Sorghum. "But that doesn't cause me any apprehension. If they refuse to be guided, there is plenty of time for me to come around and agree with them."—Washington Star.

CONSERVING OUR HEALTH

State Sanitary Laws Being Enforced on all Premises in Borough

SOME ARE RECALTRANT

In addition to looking after the cellars of the community, Health Officer Darby is also making an inspection of the sanitary surroundings of many premises, with a view of ascertaining if provisions of the state
sanitary laws are being violated.

These laws, particularly with respect to toilet arrangements, are very strict, and all health officers are required to take the most severe measures, if necessary, to see that they are carried out to the letter.

The law provides that wherever they have the conveniences householders must have mechanical flush tanks; no dry bowls are permitted, and running water or streams under them will not suffice to bring them within the pale of the law. Outside vaults must be constructed of brick or cement, and be absolutely watertight. The walls must extend eight inches above the surface of the ground, in order to prevent an evasion of surface water.

Officer Darby is serving quite a number of notices in his bailiwick, requesting that certain premises with respect to this matter be made to conform strictly to the law. It is unfortunately true that some people believe that it is none of the public's business how their premises, either house or yard, are kept, but they are being brought to see the situation from a different angle. Wherever moral suasion fails to bring the answer,
the Health Officer applies the law,
and so far he has met with excellent success. The community welfare is being advanced, and while the new law is necessary,

speaking he has been able to accomplish his ends with but little friction.

Dealing in Diamonds.
There is no other form in which human wealth is so compact and so durable as in diamonds. A paper three-inches long and an inch and a half wide will hold a king's ransom in a form that a million years will not harm and that not even fire itself, except the heat of the electric furnace and of the Bunsen burner, can destroy. You would think that anything so precious would be hedged about with a host of precautions. Just the opposite is true. Men go into the offices of wholesale diamond dealers, slip packages of uncut stones worth thousands of dollars into their pockets and go away with no record of the transaction except a "memorandum." Half the business of many dealers in precious stones is done by letting good-go out "on memorandum." The one thing that the men in the trade guard more carefully than their diamonds is their credit.—Youth's Companion.

Lions Fear Mice.
Large beasts of prey have a strong antipathy to rats and mice, says the London Tit-Bits. When a mouse was thrown into a cage where there were two lions the animals leaped away, roaring, apparently with fright, and making efforts to get away from the tiny creature. A tiger roared with rage when first introduced to a mouse. Then he lowered his muzzle to smell it, but would have no more to do with it and made violent efforts to break from his cage.
Elephants screamed and trumpeted
when mice were introduced, shrinking from them as far as their chains allowed.
One elephant, however, more knowing than the rest, when a couple of mice were placed on the ground before him quietly placed his foot on them.

Steel Ships.
Steel ships differ from those of wood
in that their hulls are made of steel plates riveted together instead of the old method of using wooden planking.
They are enabled to float because, being hollow, they have what is called buoyancy. A steel ship displaces a volume of water equal in weight to its own.
The principle of buoyancy may be tested by floating an iron pail in a bathtub
full of water.

The Ambitious Bride.
Bill—Hello! Come from your honeymoon trip already?
Gill—Oh, yes.
Bill—Rather rest, wasn't it?
Gill—Yes. My new wife seemed rather anxious to go home and try her cooking on me.—Lankers Stateman.
